

CBD and CEDRIE partner for a 2-day symposium on the enhanced phase of implementation of the CBD

On 23 May 2006, several Canadian universities and research institutions signed a Letter of Intent with the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD). As part of this partnership, the universities and research institutes will help promote awareness of critical biodiversity issues, as well as the work of the CBD. On 17-18 May 2007, the research center CEDRIE, of the University of Montreal, will be hosting a 2-day symposium exploring the enhanced phase of implementation of the CBD. The Executive Secretary, Mr. Ahmed Djoghlaif, along with Secretariat staff, will be participating in the discussions.
