AMAZING WORLDS TO DISCOVER

DANCE OF THE RAYS

April School Holidays at Melbourne Aquarium: 31 March to 15 April 2012

This school holidays, a unique group of aquatic dancers will perform a natural phenomenon unlike anything seen before in Melbourne.

Over 30 new rays dance across their underwater stage in a choreographed formation rivalling the most disciplined performers, creating a mesmerising new addition to Melbourne Aquarium's 2.2 million litre Oceanarium.

The new white-spotted eagle, cownose and southern eagle rays use their strong schooling instinct to move in mass formation, creating one of the most graceful and serene spectacles found in oceans worldwide.

With special presentations and kids art and craft activities throughout the school holidays, don't miss your opportunity to see Dance of the Rays and learn all there is to know about these amazing animals.

Melbourne Aquarium is open every day of the year, from 9:30am until 6pm. For further information, visit www.melbourneaquarium.com.au.
